A new radio station, CCJ, soon will debut in Our Town. The call letters stand for Cook County Jail. It'll be a closed-circuit station, with a captive audience, operated by and for the prisoners. (Cook County Jail also has some 35 Admiral TV sets located throughout the jail for use of the inmates.) . . . $1,750 Question: If there was nothing wrong with State's Atty. Ben Adamowski's hiring two city detectives, Richard Cain and Gerald Shallow, to spy on city Comr. of Investigations Irwin Cohen, why was such a devious means of payment employed? The money was routed from Chicago to a Michigan bank to the Cosmopolitan National Bank. Who was trying to hide what from whom?

HAVE A CHUCKLE: The Quinn Chapel dinner in honor of G-Man J. Edgar Hoover at the Pick-Congress Hotel was delayed momentarily the other night because the Illinois Professional Golfers Assn. was using the same room. When Hoover learned the reason of the delay, he quipped: "Please don't say the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation had anything to do with rushing any golfers. It might get back to Washington!" During his visit here, Hoover made a tour of the Chicago FBI office.

Warning to the hoods moving into the scavenger business in Chicago: Bobby Kennedy, a newly named attorney general, will turn on the heat shortly after he takes office. Kennedy is familiar with the problem. He devoted a portion of his book, "The Enemy Within," to the efforts of hoodlums to take over the scavenger business in New York. So get, while the getting is good! ... It's not a happy Christmas for songbird Patty Clark. She and hubby Dick Berdahl are divorcing. ... Mary Martin's Peter Pan rates some kind of award. Its third showing the other day (via NBC) drew the greatest audience for an entertainment show in TV history.

BOB HOPE LONG-DISTANCED a merry cheerio the other ayem before flying off on his annual Christmas junket to entertain Uncle Sam's troops in the Caribbean area, including Christmas Day on the Guantanamo base in Cuba. The Pentagon clamped down on Hope's entourage two years ago and forbade newsmen from accompanying him. This year, not even NBC or Hope's press agents can make the trip. Ol' Ski Nose returns in time to emcee the annual Big Ten Alumni party prior to the Rose Bowl game. . . . Our thanks to Cleveland ("Who Killed Society?") INCIDENTAL INFO: Adlai Stevenson's role as U.S. ambassador to the UN calls for a $30,000-a-year apartment in the Waldorf Towers, plus a salary that is a few hundred dollars higher than the secretary of state's. But, like most similar appointments, it calls for a financial sacrifice. The government's entertainment allowance doesn't begin to cover the demands. . . . The Honorable J. Edgar Hoover Director Federal Bureau of Investigation Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I know I need not spell out to you the aims and efforts of B'nai B'rith and its role in the American community as our country's oldest national service organization.

As a feature of B'nai B'rith's annual Youth Services banquet next month in Chicago, we are honoring a civic leader for his distinguished service to the welfare and enrichment of the American community.

This year, the B'nai B'rith Humanitarian Award has been voted to Irv Kupcinet, columnist of the Chicago Sun-Times and television personality, who has been a guiding spirit in many civic and philanthropic enterprises.

It is my privilege, on behalf of the B'nai B'rith Foundation, to invite you, as one of America's real leaders in guiding youth to our highest spiritual and ethical standards, to deliver an address on this occasion. The banquet, attended by some 1,000 persons, takes place on the evening of September 26, 1962, in the Grand Ballroom of the Palmer House Hotel.

The dinner, at which there will be no fund-raising, concludes B'nai B'rith's annual Youth Services campaign which helps support our varied youth activities involving more than 150,000 young men and women in spiritual and cultural programs. is this year's general campaign chairman. b6

My dear Mr. Hoover.

I have just received the flattering news that you have been invited to address a testimonial banquet in my honor on Sept. 26. Naturally, I would be elated if you can accept.

I also know of your interest in boxing. Thus, if you can arrange your schedule to accept this invitation, I should like to invite you to Chicago one day early to be my guest at the Patterson Liston heavyweight title fight in Comiskey Park, Sept. 25.

I fully appreciate the demands on your time and possibly this speaking invitation comes at an inopportune time. I'm hoping otherwise and sincerely wish you can take advantage of the promisity of the fight, which should be a most interesting one.

KUP'S COLUMN

KUPCINET

Two Sundays ago I sat at my typewriter, groping for the words for a Monday column to portray the majesty that was Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy in her hour of travail. Now it is Sunday again. And again I am groping for words to describe the majesty of another young lady, my very own. The newspaper stories reported she was strangled. That may suffice for the authorities. But those who knew and loved her scoff at the official findings. No one could stifle the gaiety and laughter and ebullience—"effervescent enthusiasm," we called her—that were her trademarks. That is how we remember Karyn and that is what we are clinging to as fervently as a shipwrecked sailor at sea clings to his lifeline.

OH, THE MEMORIES THAT NOW DANCE amidst our groping. How she twirled a pirouette before our last dinner together in Hollywood. And how. laughing and running, she led me up the stairs to her new apartment, modest in circumstance but rich in the art and literature of the Renaissance period. Irving Stone's "The Agony and the Ecstasy" had introduced her to Michelangelo and now she had adopted him as her very own, with Michelangelo prints and biographies dominating walls and bookshelves. Strange that the ecstasy she brought to Essee, her brother Jerry and her father, as well as hosts of others. should turn so quickly to the agony.

KARYN KUPCINET

spared us the solemnity of solitude. But still we remember vividly the critical acclaim of her last performance in Chicago and the accolades, including a West Coast editor's editorial, for her "Miracle Worker." And now the farewells from such friends as Earl Wilson and Bob Considine and Leonard Lyons and Dorothy Kilgallen in New York; Hedda and Louella and Mike Connolly and Army Archerd in Hollywood, and Maggie, Tony and Herb in Chicago. And the inspirational eulogies of Russ Stewart and Rabbi Louis Binstock.

LT. GEORGE WALSH OF THE LOS ANGELES County police, in charge of the investigation, provided comforting words when he told the press: "This girl had more friends than anybody I ever heard of. And not a knocker in the bunch. They all loved her." In a sense, this may have been her undoing. She saw only good, never evil, in her uncomplicated view of her fellow being. She related with one and all, young or old, joyous or sorrowful. This, in her naivete, could be the answer to why she opened her door to a knocking at midnight.

POETRY, RATHER THAN PROSE, comes to mind in this hour of grief. We think of Lord Byron's "She Walks in Beauty" and recall:

And on that check, and o'er that brow
So soft, so calm, yet eloquent,
The smiles that win, the tints that glow,
But tell of days in goodness spent,
A mind at peace with all below,
A heart whose Love is innocent.

AND JOHN KEATS IN HIS "ODE ON A GRECIAN URN" expressed what Karyn means to us with these words:

'Beauty is truth, truth beauty'—that is all Ye know on earth, and all ye need to know.

THE MAIL. PILED HIGH AT OFFICE and home and bearing postmarks from such distant points as Tokyo, Rome, Jerusalem. Frankfurt. Paris and London, has barely been skimmed. Yet it has brought solace, like the note from the Rev. Edward F. Murphy: "It is night here in Newburgh (N.Y.), but I seem to see a star shining fresh and new and serenely beautiful above the summit of Storm King Mountain across the Hudson River. I have given it a name—Karyn."... And from Gov. Kerner: "The pain, emptiness and heartbreak you are feeling must be shared with your friends and you must know we bear them with you—as our friends helped us in our loss of Mary Alyce at the same age."

THERE IS COMFORT, TOO, in the words of Kay Field:
"... If there can be any solare for you it must be that few girls of her age ever achieve so much and most of us, though living a full lifetime, never do at all."... And from Spyros Skouras: "It was a blow to everybody in the entertainment world that this young, beautiful and talented girl, with a promising career ahead of her, should have been so cruelly taken."... Westbrook Pegler's letter recounts other horrors that have wrenched his heart, too, and concludes: "I am now in my 70th year and when the end comes I will not much regret leaving such a world."

OF ALL THE LETTERS we've been able to leaf through. this one was particularly touching to Essee and me because it comes from a youngster: "She was one of my favorite actresses. We teen-agers loved her. But I guess God loved her better. if that is possible. You both may feel very proud that you gave to the world a wonderful talent, a fine lady and a gracious heart."—Millicent Harvey (daughter of Ald. William H. Harvey.)

AN ANCIENT PROVERB TELLS US that there is grief enough when a child buries a parent, but that grief is monumental when a parent buries a child. The mail indicates the vast number of parents who have experienced our torment. A letter from Phyllis Henderson attempts to assuage our sorrow by saying, "We all must let our daughters go and assume that by the grace of God they will be protected from the many threats that are bound to beset them. Usually all is well, but none of us ever knows from one ring of the telephone to the next. None of us possibly can blame ourselves for what befalls. We knew, and our daughters knew when we let them go, that the world is unpredictable and dangerous."

BUT THERE IS NO SURCEASE from the anguish. Do we stand indicted as parents for cutting the umbilical cord too soon to let Karyn seek her place in the world? Or should we have hovered over her and held her close to our breasts as we so wanted? Each parent who has suffered such an abysmal loss must find the answer in his own heart. But our heart can't answer, It's shattered.

A eulogy delivered by Russ Stewart

Chicago, Illinois Tuesday, Dec. 3, 1963

ESSEE, Irv, Jerry, Doree—members of the family—devoted friends of Karyn and of her parents, including our governor and our mayor who last week walked in sorrow at the funeral of the President of the United States in Washington and who are here with us today to pay their respects to Karyn.

I have been asked by the family to speak. Forgive me if the words come haltingly.

On Saturday morning of March 31, 1962—the most grief-filled day of my life—Kup stood at the bier of my 20-year-old son, Scott.

Essee and Jerry and Doree and many of you who are here today heard him say:

"I know hearts are heavy.

"I know each of us is asking 'Why?'

"And I know the answer is not within us but within a greater force we call God."

Those words of Kup's still resound in my ears.

FULLY aware as we may be that there are punishing blows lurking in our lives . . . little then did any of us know that we would be here today with an agonizing numbness in our hearts, reeling in shocked disbelief of the violent tragedy that has shattered the lives of Essee and Kup and Jerry—taking Karyn from them—taking Karyn from all of us.

I hope you'll forgive me for injecting this personal reference to my son in these solemn services today. I have done so for another reason than to recall Kup's eulogy of Scott, the comfort his words of solace brought to us in our bereavement. I do so now so I can tell you of my personal and abiding gratitude for the wise-beyondher-years understanding which beat within the heart of Karyn Kupcinet.

The limitations that came as the aftermath of two brain operations had made Scott a self-conscious, lonely student at Francis Parker School. It did, that is, until "Cookie" decided something should be done about the situation.

WITH inborn benevolence, with the warmth of heart she inherited from her parents, "Cookie" took Scott under her wing. As the most popular leader of her class, she helped him overcome many difficult problems with the teen-age set at Francis Parker.

I shall always be grateful to Karyn for this. I shall always cherish this memory of a little girl's bountiful heart reaching out—as it always did—to help someone less fortunate.

It was perhaps this great depth of understanding, this compassion for others, this acute sensitivity to the vicissitudes of life that made Karyn such a vibrant, emotionally attuned actress when the curtain went up, when motion picture cameras rolled, when she played her roles with moving realism on countless television screens across the nation.

Many of us here today, our eyes welled with tears as we mourn the fate that has stilled the heart of this talented young lady, know well the full, fierce, demanding dedication she had to her art, her work, her profession.

YET in the wonderful memories Karyn has left us, it seems like but yesterday that she took the ribbons out of her hair, the braces off her teeth, covered a liberal sprinkling of freckles with pancake makeup and romped across the stage of the Francis Parker School gymnasium, intoning the high-pitched cockney squeals of Liza Doolittle in "Pygmalion."

This was just the start. The members of Karyn's fan club watched the career of this gifted, witty, vivacious girl blossom into the enactment of many notable roles on the stage, the screen and television.

Always in the wings, literally or spiritually, stood Kup and Essee and Jerry and Doree—justifiably proud of the talent God had bestowed upon their "Cookie"— justifiably proud of their little girl who had somehow suddenly matured to womanhood, unspoiled by the fame, the publicity, the attentions showered upon her; staunch in her judgments, but who still in that big and tender heart harbored the uncompromising compassion the little Francis Parker girl had for those she felt needed her help.

A LOT of sunshine has gone out of the lives of those who knew and loved Karyn Kupcinet, but it is true that those who have enriched our lives never really leave us.

Our grief will know no surcease, but the emptiness of today will, in the infinite measure of time, be filled abundantly with the wonderful memories we have of a wonderful girl—a loving and devoted daughter.

The curtain has been rung down. The spotlight has been dimmed. But never shall we forget the beautiful, the buoyant, the thoughtful and the kindly spirit of Karyn Kupcinet as she moved much too quickly across life's stage.

A eulogy delivered by Rabbi Louis Binstock

Chicago, Illinois Tuesday, Dec. 3, 1963 WHEN the late Gertrude Lawrence, that shining, sparkling, scintillating star in such superb pieces of theater as "Lady in the Dark" and "The King and I" died too young at the height of her brilliant triumphs, the late Oscar Hammerstein II in eulogizing her said:

"In every great theatrical artist, there is ambition and industry. These qualities beget craftmanship. In every great theatrical artist there is the capacity for human understanding and sympathy. In a star—in a true star of the theater—there are all these things... and one thing more. And that one thing is mystic and intangible.

"It cannot be learned or imitated. It belongs to its owner and to no one else. It is a kind of glow that emanates from only one and communicates itself to all."

THIS magic light is not always with them. You might be sitting across a table from one of them and not be conscious of it. It is a light that begins to shine only after all the lights in the auditorium of a theater have gone out. Then, up there on the stage, you see it—and feel it—and succumb to it. Gertrude Lawrence had this light."

"Cookie" Karyn Kupcinet had that same light. She had the other things too—revealed very early in her childhood—dedicated ambition and hard industry; the innate capacity for human understanding and broad sympathy. She developed much technical equipment through years of study and striving. She had a natural physical grace—a mixture of outer beauty and inner charm.

A BOVE all, she had a great warm love for all human beings and an eager desire (and she made the effort) to have human beings love her. She wanted to do things for people to make them love her, not because she wished to acquire things from them, but because she was born that way.

She was born to be a star. I learned to know her well in my confirmation class in our Religious School of Temple Sholom. How well I remember that eager, yearning face intent upon learning all about her religion and her people (later I learned that after a visit to the State of Israel she was greatly excited by the desire to identify more and more with her religion and people); that sparkling light in her eyes; that smiling glow hovering about her face; that rushing toward you as if about to embrace and filling you with a feeling of sincere friendship and deep love.

She starred with her classmates. Of course she starred very early with her parents so that they had stars in their hopes and dreams for her future. She starred also with her brother, with her grandparents and all her dear ones—her friends and everyone she met in every walk of life. As soon as one saw her, the cry "Hi Karyn" came naturally to one's lips.

FROM her high school days, onward and upward she rose to greater and greater heights of stardom—in one performance after another. I saw her in "Father of the Bride" when she already revealed the unusual talent that was to carry her to even greater heights. She appeared in summer stock theater, in TV performances, and only last year received the acclaim that is accorded great stars in "The Miracle Worker". Critics on the West Coast wrote rayes:

"It is a stunning performance. With the 21-year-old slip of a girl Karyn Kupcinet in the lead role . . . it comes to glowing life as if the star had decades of experience . . . she gives an impact-perfect performance. Never crowding lines nor leaning too hard on the play's situation, she masters a difficult role in a veteran's style that belies her age, but gives credence to the seven years behind her in study, stage and TV work.

"She has a face that is mobile with feeling and bright with cleverness, a marvelous way of wrenching words out of her set mouth as though they were bitter; she has her own crosses to bear and she bears them silently; she conveys this inner conflict by a show of terrible strength that is one layer removed from tears."

THIS tragic moment requires terrible strength on the part of all of us to be removed even one layer from tears.

God bless "Cookie" Karyn Kupcinet. We loved her and we shall continue to love her. Today, and in all the tomorrows, let us accent our gratitude for her and not mourning. Mourning does not become "Cookie". Shall we grieve because of the years we cannot have, and not be grateful for the years we have had?

Is not the depth of our sorrow only the measure of the height of our joy in her? Let us refuse to surrender to the illusion that her death is complete and final.

Let us think of her in the words of the poet, James Whitcomb Riley, when he wrote:

I cannot say, and I will not say That she is dead—She is just away.

With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand

She has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair

It needs must be, since she lingers there.

And you—who may wildly yearn

For the old-time step and the glad return—

Think of her faring on, as dear

In the love of There as the love of Here;

Think of her still as the same, I say

She is not dead—she is just away!

SUBJECT:

IRVING KUPCINET CHICAGO SUN-TIMES CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

INQUIRY RE DAUGHTER'S DEATH

BACKGROUND:

During the Director's recent visit to Chicago, Irving Kupcinet, who is on the Special Correspondents' List as "Dear Kup," contacted you, Mr. DeLoach, regarding the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Kupcinet's daughter on the West Coast. The Director instructed that the Los Angeles Office look into the matter to see if there was anything we could do. The Director sent a letter to Kupcinet on 11-25-64 and referred to the telephone call to you. He was advised that the Los Angeles Office was looking into the matter and assured Kupcinet that if we could be of help, we would do everything possible to clear up the matter.

Subsequently, Kupcinet sent you, Mr. DeLoach, a note to express his thanks for taking interest in the case of his daughter. He pointed out that the Los Angeles County Police had been most cooperative and had no intention of demeaning their capabilities but only desired that possibly more effort could be applied.

INFORMATION FROM LOS ANGELES OFFICE:

By airtel dated 12-2-64, the Los Angeles Office furnished the following information:

Karyn Kupcinet was last known to have been alive on the evening of 11-27-63 and was found murdered in her Hollywood apartment on 11-30-63 by friends. The Los Angeles Sheriff's Office has been conducting extensive investigation, and in the beginning, a large squad of detectives was used. They are currently conducting active investigation on this case on a daily basis; however, at the present times they do not have any "good prime suspects," and inasmuch as they do not have a motive, they do not have much to work on.

M. A. Jones to DeLoach Memo RE: IRVING KUPCINET

Their investigation indicated Karyn Kupcinet was probably murdered on Thanksgiving evening, 11-28-63, although this is speculation. When she was found, she was nude and evidence in the apartment indicated she had just left her shower prior to her death. The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition. A medical examiner located a broken vertebra in her neck indicating she had been strangled. Bruised neck muscles further substantiated this cause.

Investigation by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office has indicated that Miss Kupcient was a "nymphomaniac, kleptomaniac and user of barbiturates." A few months prior to her death, she was arrested on shoplifting charges in a Los Angeles suburb, received a suspended sentence and was on probation at the time of her death. The Sheriff's Office stated that "Karyn associated with the fast Hollywood crowd and her numerous boy friends included both white and Negroes and she frequently had male guests in her apartment."

Investigation has been centralized in the Los Angeles area. Our Los Angeles Office believes that the case has been aggressively and extensively investigated by the Los Angeles Sheriff's Office. It is simply a local murder case, and, therefore, no active investigation is being conducted by this Bureau.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached letter be sent over the Director's signature to Mr. Kupcinet pointing out that we have made inquiries with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office which have indicated that the case is reportedly receiving aggressive and extensive investigation. Further, it should be pointed out to Mr. Kupcinet that since it appears to be a local murder case, the FBI has no investigative jurisdiction.

SUN-TIMES

Dear Deke,

Just a quickie to express my heartfelt thanks for your interest in the case of my daughter. I trust there may be some way in which the FBI can become involved, now that a full year has passed. It occurred in her home, 1227 Sweetzer, Hollywood, Calif., on the night of Nov. 28-29, 1963.

The L.A. County olice have been most cooperative and, I trust, are continuing their efforts.

My request is by no means an attempt to demean their capabilities.

Owur only desire is that perhaps more efforts can be applied.

With every good wish and with my warmest to Mr DEBod er 6 whose speech I enjoyed most heartily,

prostop a food meno;

Sincerely

kupcinet

Mr. Irving Kupcinet Chicago Sun-Times 401 North Wabash Avenue Chicago, Illinois 60611

Dear Kup:

DeLoach has shown me your letter of November 25th, and I do appreciate your kind comment concerning my address in Chicago.

With regard to your note to DeLoach and my letter to you of November 25th, I had our Los Angeles Office immediately inquire into the circumstances concerning the death of your daughter to determine if there is anything we can do. In this connection, our Agents examined all phases of the case. We have been informed by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Office that innumerable suspects have been eliminated and that that Office is continuing to afford this case aggressive and extensive investigation. While I would like very much to be of help to you, this matter appears to be local in nature and something in which we have no investigative jurisdiction. We, never—theless, will keep in close touch with the Sheriff's Office.

I deeply regret that I am unable to be of help in this instance, but I do hope the case will be solved in the near future.

Sincerely,

Her body was in such an advanced stage of decomposition that an autopsy was necessary to establish the cause of death and a medical examiner located a broken vertebra in her neck, indicating that she had been strangled. Some bruising of neck muscles further substantiated the cause of death as strangulation.

According to ETSEL and WALSH, no positive motive for her strangulation-murder has been developed. Their investigation has indicated that Miss KUPCINET was a "nymphomaniac, kleptomaniac, and a user of barbiturates." A few months prior to her death she was arrested on shoplifting charges in a Los Angeles suburb and was given a suspended sentence and was on probation at the time of her death. ETSEL and WALSH further advised that "KARYN associated with the fast Hollywood crowd and her numerous boy friends included both white and Negroes and she frequently had male guests in her apartment."

Innumerable suspects have been checked out and eliminated by ETSEL and WALSH, and they have advised that they presently do not have any "good prime suspects."

ETSEL and WALSH have advised that all physical evidence in Miss KUPCINET's apartment has been closely examined by the Crime Laboratory of the Los Angeles Sheriff's Office but no positive evidence as to the identity of her killer has been developed in this laboratory investigation. Both ETSEL and WALSH have advised that "one of the things wrong in this investigation is that we have too many suspects, but because we don't have a motive we don't have much to work on." They have advised that all their investigation has been centralized in the Los Angeles area where Miss KUPCINET resided for about three years prior to her murder.

It is believed that this murder case has been aggressively and extensively investigated by the Los Angeles Sheriff's Office and this case is purely and simply a local murder case. It is therefore suggested that no active investigation be conducted by the Bureau in this matter.

Most promising proposal for a memorial to Adlai E. Stevenson is a Stevenson Center for International Affairs, to be associated with a university in Illinois. This has the support of his family and closest friends, one of whom, Labor Sec. W. Willard Wirtz, has been designated by President Johnson to confer with Adiqi III about a memorial. The Stevenson Center for International Affairs would train potential leaders of foreign countries, a project close to the late ambassador's heart. Locating the center in Illinois would enable his home state to participate in the tribute.

NETWORK TELEVISION, AT LONG LAST, is discovering the Chicago Police Department. NBC, in conjunction with Danny Thomas and Sheldon Leonard, is readying one series based on our gendarmes, and now CBS is getting in the act. Writer-director Bob Altman is in town, conferring with police officials and seeking sites for a series titled Nightwatch. Altman became interested in doing a series on the Chicago force while he was here to film "Once Upon a Savage Night," which was seen on the Kraft Theater.

THREE RECENT VISITORS TO VIET NAM will discuss the war over there on our Ch. 7 Kup's Show Saturday. The trio: editor Lloyd Wendt, KAM Rabbi Jacob Weinstein and Shirley Lens of Women for Peace. They'll be joined by the State Department's Fred Flott, a Chicagoan, who served as one of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's aides in Viet Nam and is returning with him; Victor Lasky, author of "The Ugly Russian"; newspaperwoman-author Adela Rogers St. John, and Notre Dame law professor John T. Noonan, author of "Contraception."

WHEN PRESIDENT JOHNSON FIRST

summoned Justice Arthur Goldberg to discuss a stevenson III successor to Adlai E. Stevenson, he asked for a list of possible appointees. Heading the justice's list was Labor Sec. Willard Wirtz, Mr. Stevenson's former law partner. . . . The name of Justice Byron White is being mentioned as a possible successor to Ford Frick as baseball commissioner. Which reminds us of the time baseball, in seeking a man to succeed Kenesaw Mountain Landis, wanted Chief Justice Fred Vinson, Washington's No. 1 baseball fan, to become its commissioner. Vinson, in discussing the offer with his colleagues, said, "I love baseball, perhaps even more than the law. But how can a man step down from chief justice to baseball commissioner? I have to decline."

G-MAN J. EDGAR HOOVER, in his annual report on crime to be made public on Monday, calls for more officers in uniform on patrol duty. Hoover also bemoans the fact that, generally speaking, law enforcement agencies are short on manpower to perform their mounting tasks. The sizes of police forces around the nation have not kept pace with the population increase. . . . The CCCO schedule for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. this weekend is a backbreaker. He's scheduled practically every hour on the hour at a rally . . . Studs Terkel will emcee Dr. King's rally in Winnetka Sunday eve.

THE CABBIES' UNION, flushed with the victory of its new contract, now is making a concentrated effort to organize Our Town's independent taxi drivers. . . England's new movie censor is Lord Harlech, former ambassador to the U.S. He's been named head of the British Board of Film Censors, which has to approve any film playing the tight little island. . . The Nederlanders, who operate the McVickers Cinerama Theater and the Studebaker, will open their newly acquired Palace Theater in New York as a legit house, on Dec. 28. First offering will be "Sweet Charity," starring Gwen Verdon. Her hubby, former Evanstonian Bob Fosse, will direct the show and Cy Coleman will write the music.

FRIDAY TREATS: Tournament of Thrills, featuring the nation's top stunt drivers, at Soldier Field; the new stageshow policy at the Capitol Theater, featuring singer Jean Carroll; and a pre-New Year's Eve celebration at Sage's East. . . . The cast of "Barefoot in the Park," starring Myrna Loy, will be birthday-feted by the Conrad Hilton Hotel next Thursday midnight. The occasion marks the first year of the company's tour.

(Charlie Fahey and Jane Terrell of the city's Clean-Up Committee can take a bow. They've been pushing for Chicago Beautiful for years.). The Chicago Bar Assn. is moving its annual Christmas Spirits revue (Dec. 5-9) to the Edgewater Beach Hotel to accommodate the demand for tickets, which increases annually. . . . Harold Sherman, authority on extrasensory perception, is in town to start production on a TV program titled Adventures of ESP. He'll write and narrate the series.

HEADLINE: "MALE WEAKER SEX AND FADING Fast." This is news??? . . . The beleaguered Sahara Inn is no longer. The sign, changed the other day, now reads Ramada Inn. . . . And Bobby Breen is singing up a storm there. . . Pat Collins, associate producer of NBC-TV's Wild Kingdom resigned to move to San Francisco. He's joining the Foote, Cone & Belding office there as broadcast producer. . . The Rev. Daniel Egan, author of the best-selling "The Junkie Priest," is participating in the National Conference on Dope Addiction at the Sherman House.

WOULD YOU SAY PRO FOOTBALL is rushing the season more than ever? CBS-TV's first telecast of a preseason game will be the Bears vs. Packers in Milwaukee—Aug. 12. (Why, Leo Durocher barely will have been thrown out of a game by that date.) . . . No sooner did Anne Jeffreys take her last curtain call at Drury Lane on opening night than the phone backstage started ringing. It was hubby Bob Sterling, calling long distance. (The audience applause also was ringing!) . . . Celeste Holm, in town to pitch for the National Assn. of Crippled Children, will be feted Thursday by Tom and Bea Maloney at 1000 Lake Shore Dr.

NOTE FROM TV'S BATMAN, ADAM WEST: "Delighted to appear on your program Saturday." Batman will be in town with fellow ABC stars for the NAB convention. . . Dr. Lawrence A. Abel of London, one of the world's foremost cancer specialists, delivers the annual Dr. Jerome D. Solomon lecture at Hektoen Institute on Saturday. . . The Sun-Times' Ruth Dunbar, Arthur Rubloff, attorney Albert E. Jenner, Carol Fox and architect Bertrand Goldberg will be among the Chicagoans honored by the Women's Council of B'nai B'rith Saturday at the Continental Plaza. . . Liberace fans grow older, but they don't fade away, as indicated by the ticket demand for his Friday and Saturday appearances in McCormick Place. . . And overheard at Shangri-La: "Lady Bird Johnson's plan to remove billboards in great—it'll bring the motorcycle cops out into the open!"

KUP'S COLUMN

"Uncle Sam now gives you three choices of forms—the short form, the long form and the 10-year stretch!" That's one of the quips in Hope's monolog for his Wednesday night NBC-TV show. (That's the program that was postponed on March 16 when the astronauts splashed down in his time slot.) Other Hopeisms: "The Oscar show will go on as scheduled Monday, despite the loss of two of Hollywood's greatest actors, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale." . . . "I see where Richard Burton has been nominated for an Oscar for his role in 'The Spy Who Came in from the Cold.' Look what he's got to come in to!"

Bob Hope's reminder for income tax day:

BRITISH AUTHOR MICHAEL DAVIE paints a vivid picture of President Johnson in his new book, "That Man in the White House." According to Davie, "Johnson is the first truly people's President since Andrew Johnson." (Memo to author Davie: Harry S. Truman usually is described that way.) . . . The author's sum-up of the complex LBJ: "If Mr. Johnson is not the best of all possible Presidents, he is at least an extremely able and responsible one—more flexible than many people suppose and a good deal more sophisticated about and sensitive to the complexities of the world than oversimplifying critics imagine."

ZANY PHYLLIS DILLER'S CURRENT STAND at the Empire Room will be her last Chicago cafe engagement for a long time. Her new ABC-TV series, The Pruitts of Southampton, and her movie commitments (five more with Bob Hope) will preclude nightclub dates, except for a rare Nevada appearance.

. . Among the first-nighters cheering La Diller were new White Sox manager Ed Stanky and his bride (a real looker). They were celebrating their 24th anniversary. Stanky's comment on the comedienne: "She's very funny, but can she hit?" (Ask Warde Donovan!)

LA DILLER STILL INCLUDES the hilarious routine on "Fang," her ex-husband, who doesn't object. But she's being sued for $200,000 by "Fang's" mother and sister, who do object to what they consider are Phyllis' mentions of them in her barbs. . . . Phyllis flipped for Ivan Bunny's line on her: "Miss Diller was paged for 'My Fair Lady,' but they couldn't find an actor who could get accustomed to her face!" . . . Phyllis takes off Monday night to attend the Oscar ceremonies, at which she and Milton Berle will be co-presenters.

BOB HOPE

LAS VEGAS WILL BE SWINGIN' more than usual this week, with the "summit show"

Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Joey Bishop at the Sands—and its annual golf tournament. . . Selection of "Sound of Music" as the best movie of the year by Film Daily, the trade journal, is an indication of the way the Oscar winds are blowing. . . Jessica Walter, young actress in "The Group," repeatedly has told interviewers that she has no intentions of marrying because of her blossoming career. So she married Ross Bowman, a New York stage manager.

G-MAN J. EDGAR HOOVER, in the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, takes after "loan sharks," better known in Chicago as "juice men." Hoover calls the juice racket "one of the most vicious crimes facing our society today." . . . Songbird Jaye P. Morgan, starring at Ray Colomb's, and her hubby, pianist Artie Kane, are telling it to divorce attorneys. . . . Pert and pretty Catherine Allegret, in town to herald "The Sleeping Car Murder," will represent her mom, Simone Signoret, at the Oscar awards. . . . Bill Buckley's second opponent in his Ch. 32 debate series, Firing Line, will be Steve Allen. Saturday's topic: Capital punishment.

NO WONDER CHARLES DE GAULLE is angry with the U.S.—California wines, for the first time in history, are going on sale in the supermarkets of Gay Paree. It's a special two-week California wine festival. (Voilal Lucky Pierre finally is getting a rare import!) . . . The Polish Millenium banquet at the Sherman House Saturday is SRO. . . . The new Ivanhoe Theater makes its debut June 1 with Thelma Ritter starring in "The Late Christopher Bean."

GEORGE HAMILTON, who makes movies when not visiting Lynda Bird Johnson, will go to Harvard on May 9 to pick up the lampoon award voted him as "worst supporting actor" of the year. Natalie Wood, also lampooned by the Harvards, plans to make a personal appearance, too, to accept her award. . . Fred Townsend, Palmer House press chief, is in Passavant Memorial Hospital. He suffered a slight heart attack. . . Borden Stevenson's many chums here are concerned about his huge investment in a New York nightclub, ever a hazardous operation.

ROD SERLING, PRESIDENT of the National Academy of TV Arts and Sciences, wings in (at his own expense) Thursday to address the TV Symposium at Roosevelt U. It's open to the public. . . . S. Barry Lipin of U.S. Auto Leasing will demonstrate how he became a business success, despite a handicap of deafness, at the Standard Club on Thursday. The luncheon is sponsored by the Foundation for Hearing and Speech Rehabilitation. . . . Before the Cubs-Giants opener in San Francisco, exchicagoan Lou Lurie was feted at Jack's restaurant. The occasion marked his 50th anniversary of dining there daily. (Please pass the bicarb!) . . . And overheard at Mayor's Row: "I don't care what they say, the baseball season doesn't start for me until the first jumpire throws out Leo Durocher!"

KUP'S COLUMN

A Reporter's Report: Not revealed heretofore is the fact that Gerard Croiset, the famed Dutch psychic featured on ABC-TV's "The Baffling World of ESP," was flown to Chicago shortly after the kidnaping of the Fronczak baby on April 27, 1964. Croiset had never stepped foot in Chicago before. Yet, a few minutes after his arrival, his extrasensory perception told him that the baby (1) was taken from a hospital near the lake (Michael Reese), (2) was flown out of Chicago from an airport he indicated to be Midway and (3) was in good shape and would be found in the eastern U.S. Now the Fronczak parents are adopting a baby abandoned in Newark, N.J., which they are convinced is their missing Paul Joseph.

NOW HEAR THIS: Sen. George Murphy (R-Calif.), speaking at the Chuck Percy dinner here, related it: With himself in the Senate and another actor, Ronald Reagan, a candidate for governor, "California may be the first state with its own marquee!" . . : The Percy dinner guests still are chuckling over emcee Spencer Moseley's boo-boo: After Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen (R-III.) addressed the banquet by amplified long distance phone from Washington, Moseley inadvertently intoned, "Thank you, Sen. Douglas!"

THESE HEADLINERS: G-Man J. Edgar Hoover's latest statistics show crime in the U.S. rose 6 per cent during the first quarter of 1966. The suburbs, not the densely populated cities, showed the greatest increase—9 per cent. . . The parents of astronaut Eugene Cernan, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cernan, will celebrate their 41st wedding anniversary next Saturday, the day their illustrious son returns for a salute in suburban Bellwood and at the Brass Rail at O'Hare Inn. . . Actress Eleanor Parker and her husband, Ray Hirsch of the Blackstone Theater, move into their new South Side apartment this weekend. She'll commute to Hollywood for her roles.

R. SARGENT SHRIVER JR.

ONCE OVER QUICKLY: R. Sargent Shriver Jr., the poverty chief, accompanied by Ted Jones and other local officials, lunched at Batt's on Cermak Road the other day. Shriver was treated to a number of Yiddish delicacies, including blintzes, kreplach and kishke. "Are you familiar with this food?" asked host Nate Batt. . . "Certainly," deadpanned Shriver. "We used to have this regularly at Hyannis Port!"

FRONT AND CENTER: White House aides, obviously disturbed over the plunging polls, are urging President Johnson to make a tour of the nation. The strategy would be to emphasize-domestic accomplishments and soft-pedal talk about Vict Nam... Comedienne Jane Kean (once half of the Kean Sisters) is joining Jackie Gleason's "The Honeymooners" as Art Carney's wife. Sheila MacRae previously was signed to play Gleason's frau.

CURTAIN GOING VIP: Occar Brown Jr.'s "Summer in the City," showcasing new talent, debuts at Harper Theater June 30 on a weekend (Thursday through Sunday) basis. Oscar, meanwhile, will continue to star in his "Joy '66" at the Happy Medium. . . Also doing double duty will be Julia Meade, who joins Jim Conway's Ch. 7's Morning Show on Monday for a gruelling three-week schedule. She'll star in "Mary, Mary" at Drury Lane by night, appear on the TV show by day. . . Chicago's Barbara Minkus was named "most promising new performer of the year" by the New York TV Academy. Tab her for stardom.

TOWER OF BABBLE: The Sherman House shortly will announce plans for a new 16-story building, which will include the new Civic Center Bank & Trust going up at La Salle and Randolph. To make room for the new structure, the hotel garage will be moved a half block north on LaSalle. The building will enable the Sherman to increase its public rooms and provide office space. . . Five prominent Chicago sportsmen—Arthur Wirtz, Art Bowes, Ike Sewell, Pat O'Malley and John Cox—are assembled on the Blackhawk III, Wirtz's 125-ton fishing yacht, in Florida waters. Their goal is to better Sewell's record catch of a 387-lb. marlin.

AND THEN I WROTE: The Hollywood premiere showing of Bob Hope's "Boy, Did I Get a Wrong Number!" not only won the critics' raves but also raised $25,000 for the Holy Family Adoption Agency. (Bob and his wife Dolores are strong for adoption—their four children were all adopted.) . . . The State Department tapped Chicagoan John C. Colman, vice president of A. G. Becker & Co., for the post of director of the Office of International Monetary Affairs. . . The Kim Sisters, starring at the Empire Room, almost nightly make a mad dash to the Continental Plaza to see their Kim Brothers.

THE DEADLINE DASH: This is Father's Day, so take some father to hach. (And let him pick up the tab!) . . . Leonard Schaller becomes the father of the bride on Sunday. His Susan weds law student Bruce Bass at the Ambassador West. . . Comedian Joey Adams' new book, "The Borscht Belt," has been sold for a movie. . . The Camellia House, currently undergoing a face-lifting, picked up its option on maestre Jimmy Blade. . . When the Sox traded Eddie Fisher, Ivan Bunny harumphed, "Shucks, Liz did that long agoi

Princess Lee Radziwill, on signing for a June appearance at the Ivanhoe Theater in "The Philadelphia Story," made two requests of producer Chuck Booth: Forget the "princess" jazz and "let everybody know I'm just Lee Radziwill" and, please, soft pedal the reference to her sister, Jacqueline Kennedy. Mrs. Radziwill wants to make it on her own, without title or relatives. . . . Incidentally, once before Lee (in keeping with her request) was announced for a play. That was a few years ago at the Playhouse Park in Philadelphia. She canceled out because she thought "she wasn't ready."

APPOINTMENT OF JOHN STAMOS as new state's attorney won the unanimous approval of the staff, which speaks well of his popularity among fellow workers. . . . Stamos, incidentally, was recommended to Mayor Daley by Seymour Simon, then county president, two weeks ago. . . . Simon still hasn't made up his mind about accepting the 40th Ward aldermanic post. He first wants to take stock of his personal life and goals. (And isn't something "bigger" brewing?) . . . The current talk of a quota system (between Negroes and whites) to help resolve open housing was suggested years ago by the late Albert Cardinal Meyer and Saul Alinsky. Both were hooted down at the time.

G-MAN J. EDGAR HOOVER, in the current FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, tells of the humanitarian aspects of law officers and cites the case of the baby who was kidnaped from his home in South Carolina and finally found by FBI agents in Chicago. The agents, on learning the mother was destitute, donated money to enable her to fly to Chicago and take her baby home. Hoover omitted the names. The 2-week-old baby was Kenneth Bryson, the mother Jessie May Bryson of Greenville, S.C. And the woman charged with the kidnaping was Helen Lucille Isaac. And among the FBI agents who participated in the recovery, arrest and donation was Marlin Johnson, head of the Chicago office.

RESIGNATION OF CHARLES STEIN, "boy wonder of the business world," as president of Kitchens of Sara Lee was a shocker. Only last week, he was the recipient of paeans of praise from his superiors at a Sara Lee dinner party. He'll be succeeded by Manny Kaplan. . . . Lou Nizer, as counsel for the Motion Picture Assn., met with Mexican officials to get the ban on Frank Sinatra lifted. Frank was labeled "persona non grata" as a result of his movie "Marriage on the Rocks," which offended sensibilities south of the border.

WOMEN FOR PEACE, in its anti-Viet Nam campaign, is planning a rebuttal to the Defense Department's "Why Viet Nam?" film, prepared for indo_trination of recruits. The film explains why Americans are fighting over there. Women for Peace charge it's a distortion of history. . . Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, one of Our Town's foremost philanthropists as well as a world-renowned dermatologist, will be cited by the Phi Beta Kappa Assn. of Chicago next Monday.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT THAT the Muhammad (Clay) Ali-Ernie Terrell fight will be held in the Houston Astrodome on Feb. 6 will be made Tuesday. It was an item here last week. . . . Pro football experts are trying to recall when a team ran up 81 points in two successive games—and lost both, as the hapless New York Giants did. (Or, what price defense? Their opponents scored an unbelievable 121 in the same two games.) . . . Empire Room star Tony Bennett makes it happen with his latest record, "What Makes It Happen." (And it can happen to you!) . . . It'll be a "Flight Into Fashion" at the Pick-Congress on Wednesday, a style show by the women volunteers of the Travelers Aid Society.

DICK ("HALF A SIXPENCE") KALLMAN played host at a farewell party Saturday midnight for Anne Rogers and Betty Grable by screening his MGMovie, "Doctor, You've Got to Be Kidding." George Hamilton, Celeste Holm and Sandra Dee are Kallman's co-stars in the movie, 90 minutes of hilarity. . . . John Chancellor is refuting a report that he intends to quit the Voice of America. On the contrary, he's hard at work, making plans for the Voice's 25th anniversary celebration next year. . . . Our condolences to Arthur Wirtz on the death of his sister, Mrs. Myron Tremaine.

CBS-TV HOPES TO FATTEN ITS rating lead over rival networks this week with three major specials—Sol Hurok Presents, Frank Sinatra and "Glass Menagerie." . . . August Heckscher, consultant on the arts to President Kennedy, headlines a panel of experts discussing "An Arts Council for Chicago?" before the Adult Education Council in the Pick-Congress on Tuesday. . . Michael Caine, during his four-day visit, was fascinated by Hugh Hefner and the house the bunnies built. The two are now fast friends.

THE CURRENT LIFE and the U. of Chicago have something in common. The magazine features "The Draft—Who Beats It and How." The university is conducting a seminar on the draft.

... Black Hawk star Bobby Hull caused some hearts to flutter when he visited the Sun-Times and Daily News advertising department the other day. Hull stopped in to talk hockey with advertising director Gabe Joseph, himself a former hockey star at the U. of Michigan. ... Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian is relaxing for a few days from his hectic football season at the Palmer House Towers. ... And bumper sign spotted in Los Angeles: "Dean Martin for Water Commissioner!"

THE NATION'S CHANGING CRIME PATTERN is pointed up by G-man J. Edgar Hoover's latest report that serious crime jumped 20 per cent in the first three months of 1967 over the corresponding period last year. The suburbs (not the big city's ghetto areas, as many contend) experienced the greatest increase—22 per cent. . . . Official announcement will be made any hour: The deal to bring the American Conservatory Theater (ACT) to Chicago has fizzled, despite the prolonged negotiations and efforts by many of our leading citizens. ACT now will probably make a deal with Washington, D.C.

Other guests include Bill Mauldin of The Sun-Times, just back from the Middle East war; history professor and Syrian authority Husni Haddad of St. Xavier College; diplomat Raj Bahadur of India; Jolly Cholly Grimm of the Cubs; Dan Dailey, star of "The Odd Couple," and two famous nuns, Sister Mary Xavier of Clarke College, author of "GI Nun," and Sister Charles Borromeo, editor of "The New Nuns."

STATE REP. JOHN H. KLEINE (R-Lake Forest) is campaigning vigorously for the few votes still needed to get his bill

(to establish a fact-finding commission to study modern abortion laws) passed in the Senate. It comes up Tuesday. Illinois is lagging behind such states as California, Oklahoma, Colorado and North Carolina, which have adopted liberalized abortion laws. . . . HEY THERE, YOU WITH STARS in your eyes: Phyllis McGuire, in her three-day stay at the Empire Room, is proving she's got what it takes to go it alone. She charmed the first-nighters with her singing and clowning as a single. The McGuire Sisters will continue to work together spasmodically, but sister Dorothy, married to a wealthy businessman, is longing for retirement. . . Among the ringsiders cheering Phyllis were June Taylor, Jackie Gleason's choreographer, and her sister Marilyn. The Taylor girls were reunited with Merriel Abbott, the Palmer House talent chief under whom they learned their dancing.

"SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS" will be very large in Our Town. The late Walt Disney's first and most famous full-length animated movie will be reissued this summer, marking its 30th anniversary and figures of Snow White and the dwarfs will be featured at the Royal London Wax Museum in Old Town. Derek Deroy, London scenic designer, is heading here to handle the settings for the figures in the museum.

Three sets of lovely twins, who appear in "Gunn," making the radio-TV-press rounds in town and doing a selling job for paper dresses, as well as the movie. (The paper caper!)

IT'S A BOY FOR ROGER LEE PFOHL and his Molly, making two prominent Chicagoans grandfathers—Walter Mullady and Paul Pfohl. . . Marina City restaurants' outdoor concerts, featuring Your Father's Mustache's banjo band, during Friday luncheons will be a summer-long attraction. . . The first "sleepwear" fashion show proved so popular that Jerry Homer decided to make it a regular Saturday feature for his Stevens Bedding chain. . . The Weekend PicKup: Gil Stern knows a father who wrote to his GI son in-Vietnam: "You ask about the rioting back here, Don't worry about us—we're keeping the home fires burning!" . . . Baseball great Jackie Robinson, now a consultant to New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, is convinced Stokely Carmichael. and Rap Brown represent only a tiny segment; of the Negro population and their inflammatory statements are; given far too much circulation by the news media. . . . Cary' Grant and Dyan Cannon hope to seal their reconciliation by. co-starring in an MGMovie.

ONE MAN'S OPINION: The other day we suggested that the "shoot to kill" order in some of the riot-torn cities was aggravating, rather than alleviating, the tense situation. Use of tear or nausea gas would prove much more effective, without, taking the lives of innocents, as charged in Newark and Detroit. Now comes a report that city officials in Newburgh, N.Y., "are giving at least part-credit for the quieting of racial, disturbance to a disabling gas that was not even used, 'We had spread the word,' Police Lt. Homer Maslin explains, 'that we had a new secret weapon (a disabling gas called Mace) and it was enough to frighten them." (The Chicago' Police Department revealed over the weekend that it, too, will use Mace.)

CAROL CHANNING, WHO ARRIVES MONDAY to join producer Ross Hunter and co-star Mary Tyler Moore for Wednesday's premiere of "Thoroughly Modern Millie." invited Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne to come in from their Genesee Depot (Wis.) retreat for the festivities. BOB HOPE TO SPEAK AT

City To Salute Kup's 25

Sun-Times columnist Irv Kupcinet has been singing Chicago's praises for 25 years, and next Wednesday the city will return the salute.

Kup will be honored at an all-Chicago, black-tie dinner in the Great Hall of the Pick-Congress Hotel.

Five hundred civic and business leaders and their wives have been invited to the event, which will mark the 25th anniversary of Kup's Column.

Bob Hope To Speak

The featured speaker will be Bob Hope, a long-time friend of Kupcinet.

Emmett Dedmon, editor of The Sun-Times, will be master of ceremonies. Ather speakers include Mayor Daley, and three of Kup's colleagues from the newspaper division of Field Enterprises, publisher of The Sun-Times. They are Bailey K. Howard, president; Russ Stewart, vice president and Marshall Field, assistant to the general manager.

It was in January, 1943, that Kup left the sports beat of The Chicago Times to turn out what was to become the most widely read column of its type in the city.

Kup was tapped for the job by the late Richard J. Finnegan, then editor of The Times, and Stewart, then managing editor.

A 1943 announcement of the new column was accurate: "He'll delve into every phase of local enterprise and activity . . . business, politics, night clubs, the theater, sports."

But as readers of his column know, Kup has extended his horizons far beyond State and Madison. He frequently prints news beats of pational and international significance.

Heart As Well As News

During his quarter of a century as a columnist, Kup has won hundreds of honors as a reporter and as a humanitarian. His causes, too numerous to mention here, have been based on the premise that "the column should have a heart as well as news."

In addition to the long hours he devotes to his first love of column writing, the indefatigable Kupcinet works hard at other efforts that keep him before the public eye.

For more than a decade, Kup has been keeping Chicagoans up late as moderator of a TV talk show. During the football season, he works with Jack Brickhouse in radio broadcasts of Chicago Bears games.

Some Tickets Still Available

Wednesday's tribute to Kupcinet begins with a reception at 6:15 p.m. followed by the dinner at 7:30.

A few tickets, at $25 each, remain available for the dinner. They may be obtained by writing or calling at the public relations office in Room 710 of The Sun-Times and Daily News Building, 401 N. Wabash, or by telephoning 321-26 4.

Proceeds from the dinner will go, appropriately, to the United Service Organization, the agency that seeks to make life less lonely for members of the armed forces.

During the last 23 years, Kup's Purple Heart cruises on Lake Michigan have entertained thousands of hospitalized veterans.

KUP'S COLUMN

A Reporter's Report: Mayor Daley still is awaiting word from the White House on whether President Johnson will fly to Chicago Wednesday for the Democrats' fundraising dinner at the Conrad Hilton. . . . The FBI, in a virtual hunt for a "needle in a haystack," did a magnificent job in turning up the identity of James Earl Ray, being sought for the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. . . . His photograph will be shown on network TV Sunday night as an aid in his apprehension. It'll be flashed on ABC-TV's The FBI Story. . . . FBI authorities report Ray, if he's the man, probably was hired by others to do the killing. He's not the type, they point out, to nurse convictions deep enough on a social issue to lead to murder.

NOW HEAR THIS: This is National Library Week. Take a librarian to lunch. Or better, read a book. Books help dispel ignorance, keep men free, preserve values, and educate, entertain and elucidate. The slogan of National Book Week is "Be all you can be." In today's hip language, it might well be, "Learn, baby, learn." Reading will help achieve that goal.

THE HEADLINERS: Sammy Davis Jr., who opens Tuesday in "Golden Boy" at the Auditorium, is talking to Bill (I Spy)

Cosby about touring in "The Odd Couple" to raise funds for the SCLC... Glenn Ford and Kathy Hayes, the pride of Joliet, parted this week after trying a reconciliation. She went home to her parents, who now live in a Los Angeles house purchased for them by Ford.... Defense Sec. Clark Clifford's popularity with both the military and the press has enabled him to accomplish what few deemed possible. Mention Robert Mc-Namara in the Pentagon these days and the response comes back, "Who?"

MARLON BRANDO

THE HEART LINE: Marlon Brando, on the Johnny Carson show, revealed his dedication to the civil rights cause which led him to bow out of Elia Kazan's "The Arrangement." He's devoting full time to raising funds for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in memory of Dr. King. He's asking friends to pledge 1 per cent of their annual incomes. Brando himself is giving 10 per cent. On the show, Carson handed over his 1 per cent check, which must have been a whopper in view of Johnny's publicized $1,000,000 per salary.

ONCE OVER QUICKLY: The Chicago Day sesquicentennial dinner at the Pick-Congress Hotel developed into one of those interminable evenings that lasted almost until midnight. Rabbi Robert Marx, last person introduced in the long program, summed it up best: "I'm not sure whether I'm to deliver the benediction for tonight's dinner or the invocation for tomorrow's breakfast!" . . . Shirley Temple Black, while in town to address a Republican dinner, expressed the hope that the public would forget her image as a child movie star. Shirley revealed she'll turn 40 on Tuesday. (How does that grab you?)

FRONT AND CENTER: Dyan Cannon, recently divorced from Cary Grant, is on the verge of signing with producer Carl Stohn Jr. for a Pheasant Run Playhouse engagement. . . . WGN's Wally Phillips gets the "decency in entertainment" award Thursday from the Notre Dame Club of Chicago. . . . Attorney Sid Korshak's elder son Harry and Virginia Buckman became Mr. and Mrs. in Los Angeles the other day.

CURTAIN GOING UP: A film, "Variations on a Theme From Macbeth," produced by two Francis Parker High seniors, will be seen on the Public Broadcast Laboratory (via Ch. 11) Sunday night. The two students are sons of famous Chicagoans—David Mauldin, whose dad is the Sun-Times Pulitzer Prize cartoonist, and Ken Nordine Jr., son of the broadcaster. . . . Annulment of the Del Coleman-Jan Golding marriage, which lasted two weeks, was granted in New York this week. . . . The Mills Brothers are breaking it up in Springfield's major spa, the Lake Club.

AND THEN I WROTE: At least one Chicago team is on a winning streak. The U. of Chicago seeks its second straight victory on NBC-TV's College Bowl Sunday against Loyola U. of Los Angeles. . . . Ten wounded Vietnam veterans will be Hugh Hefner's guests at Variety Club's "Salute to Martha Raye" luncheon Monday at the Sheraton-Blackstone. . . . Add nice gestures: Joey Bishop, on his late night show, singing "happy birthday" to Chicago's Mama Dunn (Benny's mother), who has befriended him often in Chicago.

THE DEADLINE DASH: LeRoy Kohn, head of Mercantile! Financial Corp., celebrates his 50th birthday Sunday by entertaining friends at a screening of "The Producers" and then, a bruncheon at the Standard Club. Kohn's firm is helping movied maker Joe Levine finance the film, as it did "The Graduate."

... Willie Davis of the Green Bays, studying for his master's degree at the U. of Chicago, takes time out Sunday to address the Hyde Park Neighborhood Athletic Club dinner. ... Some 3,000 youthful admirers of Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.) will assemble at the Cheetah Sunday to sing hosannas for their favorite presidential aspirant. ... And teen-age girl to her boy friend: "Of course my dad doesn't mind our being alone in the house. He thinks you're a girl!"

A Reporter's Report: Macin Johnson, FBI agent-in-charge, and his stall merits a salute for their quick recovery of 7-year old Fillard, Marks, a kidnap victim. It was exactly 36 hours and 36 minutes from the time the FBI was notified until the youngster was refurned home. Johnson, while applauding press-

SUBJECT: CRIME RESISTANCE PROGRAM

On 11/18/75, in accordance with my telephone conversation with you on Thursday, 11/13/75, SA and I met with Irv Kupcinet in Chicago, Illinois, for the purpose of determining whether or not he would be amenable to an appearance by yourself on his television program. In addition to his nationwide television program, Kupcinet, who is referred to as 'Kup,' also has a syndicated column with the 'Chicago Sun Times,' which is carried by several large newspapers and which is known as 'Kup's Column."

DATE: November 25, 1975

By way of background information, Kup is widely acclaimed and highly respected in the media community. Not only is his television program aired over Channel 5 in Chicago, an NBC affiliated station which has an estimated one and a half million viewers, but this program is also fed into the Public Broadcasting System (PBS) and aired throughout the country with an estimated total viewership of over 8 million. Kup's program, which has a duration of one hour, is aired in Chicago Sunday evening from 10:30 to 11:30 with varying air times over the PBS networks. In the past Kup has had such well-known personalities on his program as President Ford, Vice President Rockefeller and Senators Percy and Stevenson.

Kup, who has long been a personal friend of SAC Held and the Chicago FBI Office, was most receptive to the prospect of your appearing on his program. He would like to do the complete program with you as his only guest and would like to devote the entire time to the Bureau's Crime Resistance Program. This program is normally taped on a Friday or Saturday. The taping session would last about an hour and a half and would take place at NBC studios in Chicago. Program format would consist of Kup engaging you in a dialogue concerning your views on the concept of crime resistance and the role of the FBI in this program

Discussed with Kup in anticipation of your favorable consideration for appearance on this program were the following points concerning the crime resistance concept:

CONTINUED - OVER

- 1. As reflected by the latest Uniform Crime Reports statistics, the fact that crime has risen 18% in the past year is indicative of the fact that law enforcement acting alone is not capable of reducing crime. In the law enforcement, despite marked advances in its degree of profile management and level of performance, is unable even to contain crime.
- There are no technological breakthroughs on the horizon as far as the enforcement is concerned which will enable them to contain or reduce crime.
- 3. Crime is not only a threat, it is a fact of life, a reality. It is something that is with everyone from the womb to the tomb. Crime is a hazard of which we must all be wary, just as we are wary of other hazards in life such as traffic, fire, water, electricity, disease, etc. Just as a child is born into the world subjected to the hazard of the whizzing automobile, so to is he born into the world subjected to the hazard of crime. It is not the police officer who can save us from the hazard of the automobile, and if an individual is not wary and does not take certain basic precautions with respect to traffic safety, he would be inviting injury to himself. In addition, just as the dentist cannot brush our teeth for us, it is also true that the police officer cannot be expected to save a potential victim from a criminal offense unless there are certain basic things he does to protect himself.
- 4. Many crimes are crimes of opportunity. While it is realized that taking precautionary measures will not always insure that one does not fall victim to the criminal, they can go a long way toward protecting against crime. In addition, when there are fewer opportunities, there is less crime. Many criminals would not commit crimes if there were not so many ready opportunities. At the same time more determined criminals would be forced to take greater chances, thereby, increasing the likelihood they will be caught.
- 5. It is ironical that as this nation approaches its Bicentennial people can no longer safely walk the streets and enjoy the freedoms, safety and security that they have in the past. It is also ironical that Americans have adopted a posture of yielding these freedoms when our forefathers would never have tolerated such an abridgement of their God-given rights. After all, this was a nation that wouldn't pay tribute to the Barbary Pirates.

- 6. Many Americans have apparently chosen to abdicate their responsibilities. This, however, has not necessarily occurred in the absence of encouragement from law enforcement. In the past law enforcement has always taken the posture that if given better materials and more tools, such as cars, computers, better pensions and so forth, they would handle the problem for the people. This has not been the case. The American phenomenon today seems to be to "let someone else handle the problem for us." We have left education to the educators, morality to the clergy, charity to the fund raisers and politics to the politicians. In fact, in this decade we have had mercenaries fighting our war in South East Asia. Also, in New York City they not only have daycare centers for working mothers, they also have them for non-working mothers to "handle the problem of child rearing." It seems that once a committee is formed or an organization is formulated to address a particular problem, people tend to relax, become apathetic and say "An I glad someone is taking care of that for me."
- 7. There has been a lot of controversy over crime statistics and the fact that the Uniform Crime Reports do not adequately represent the true crime picture because victimization studies indicate that crime is two or three times higher than actually reported. The fact is neither of these statistics adequately represents the pain, loss, suffering and the diminishing of the quality of life which is brought on by crime. When Kitty Genevese was brutally murdered in New York while people looked on, her loss represented the figure "1" as far as the police statistics were concerned. This figure certainly does not take into account the number of individuals' lives that were diminished by this crime. The lives of her parents, brothers and sisters, relatives and friends that were affected by her loss.
- 8. The purpose of the Crime Pesistance Program is certainly not to address the causes of crime on which no one seems to be able to agree, but rather the fact of crime on which everyone can agree. Namely, no one wants to be a victim -- to have a gun shoved in their face and to be deprived of the fruits of their labor.
- 9. With respect to crime, it is not so much being deprived of the fruits of one's labor that is important. The truth, in reality, lies not in the fact that time is money, but rather that money is time. Once the victin of a criminal offense, it is not the monetary loss that is important because that can be replaced. It is, instead, the loss of one's time that it took to obtain those fruits that is irreplaceable.

- 10. This has been the nation that has always said millions for defense, not five cents for tribute. This has not been so with respect to crime. Millions for tribute in that government, whether federal, state or local, has expended its wealth and energies not only on the causes of crime and attempts to insure that people don't become criminals, but also millions on rehabilitative efforts. In addition, the individual citizen pays tribute daily in various respects. It is not uncommon for an individual to commute an hour or more one way to work, not because he is bigoted or because suburban living is a little more economical, but because he fears for his safety and security in the inner city. The time has come that Americans should start spending some of our time and energies for resistance to crime. Resistance in that they should take certain precautionary measures to avoid becoming a victim of crime.
- 11. Federal, state or local governments cannot solve the crime problem for the people. The crime problem in the community of Wilmington, Delaware, can only be adequately addressed and solved by the individual citizens in that community. The Crime Resistance Program seeks to overcome apathy and educate and motivate people to take certain basic precautionary measures so they can reduce their chances of becoming a victim. Once the American people realize just how much they have to do to address the crime problem and to make themselves safe, perhaps they will become indignant and demand that shortcomings within the criminal justice system be rectified.
- 12. The two most important societal groups that the Bureau is endeavoring to reach through its Crime Resistance Program are women and youth. Women because they are probably the most moral and cohesive force that we have in this country. Not only are they the educators in a non-academic sense, but they are the people who want things right and 'the way they ought to be.'' Women are more than willing to expend theitime and energy in this regard. Youth are most important because not only is today's child tomorrow's victim, but also because they are tomorrow's parents. It seems to us that in passing on our heritage to our children we should not only try to pass it on in as good a condition a we received it, but rather should try to enrich it and give them a better world in which to live.
- 13. Most people who come into law enforcement do so to apprehend the villan. Crime prevention lacks the pizzaz that is enjoyed by other law enforcement functions. Crime prevention is all right for law enforcement as long as someone else is doing it and it doesn't interfere with other functions. The FBI's involvement in the Crime Resistance Program will hopefully go a long way toward legitimizing crime resistance as a law enforcement function since it appears that law enforcement has no way left to go.

Kup felt that a discussion with you along the lines outlined above would be more than adequate material for a one-hour program. He was most enthusiastic about the Crime Resistance Program and was in complete agreement with its concept and felt that this was the type of information which would be well received by his viewing audience.

We feel that Kup's program would also afford an excellent opportunity to display the Bureau's new crime resistance poster, which was submitted for your consideration recently. Not only could some discussion be had concerning the poster and its logo, but also we feel that it would be well received by the viewing audience and be indicative of the interest in and commitment to crime resistance on your part and the part of the Bureau.

Various other approaches that the Bureau is taking to promote the concept of crime resistance were also discussed with Kup. Among these were our attempts to persuade the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts to develop a crime safet merit badge and the development by the Milton Bradley Company of a crime resistance game, the purpose of which was to try to avoid becoming a victim of crime. Kup was very much interested in the fact that we had had discussions with a syndicated columnist with a view toward having a crime resistance column published once a week, and also the fact that work was being done with a Buffalo, New York, television station to have them include a two-minute segment in their local news covering various aspects of crime resistance. Kup advised that he felt these were excellent ideas and felt they would be well received by the reader of the column and television viewers. He advised that if our plans with either the syndicated columnist from Scripps Howard or the Buffalo, New York, television station failed to materialize, he would be very much interested in looking into the possibility of pursuing either one or both of these ideas. The idea of a Crimatho was also discussed with him, and he thought that the time was right for such an endeavor and that such a program would be very well received.

While in Chicago we also met with Gene Filip, Manager of Community Affairs, WGN Radio Station. Under Filip's management, Jack Brickhouse, a well-known news commentator and sports broadcaster, does a weekly radio program on WGN entitled "Your FBI." This program, which has been on the air for nine years, is 15 minutes in duration and is produced with the assistance of the Chicago Office of the FBI. It has a very wide listening audience. Filip would like very much to make arrangements for Brickhouse to interview you for this program. WGN has what is known as a "clear channel" and has an estimated Chicago listening audience of one and a half million and a nationwide listening audience of an estimated 8 million. Filip advised that Brickhouse's program, which is taped, is on every Sunday evening from 9:30 to 9:45. He would like very much, if possible, to have arrangements made for Brickhouse to interview you along the lines outlined above for inclusion on his program. If the interview took an hour the station would segment the interview and air four 15-minute programs Also, if you so desire, Brickhouse would be glad to interview you for a 15minute program on a topic other than crime resistance. However, this is being left up to you and is no way a prerequisite for your appearance in conjunction with crime resistance. Brickhouse's program is normally taped on Thursdays at WGN studios in Chicago.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That you appear on the Irv Kupcinet program. Taping for this program will be held on Friday, 1/9/76. It is noted that also on this date the Chicago Office is planning a 35th anniversary party for SAC Richard G. Held which you might also like to attend.

2. That consideration be given for a future appearance the next time you are in Chicago on the Jack Brickhouse "Your FBI" program. Brickhouse travels quite extensively and will not be available until after February, 1976.
